This snapshot highlights the Centre’s efforts in deepening equity, diversity and inclusion (EDI) throughout Humber during the 2019-2020 academic year. The success of the Centre's mandate to embed EDI throughout Humber depends significantly on the cooperation and trust of the Humber community. We are thankful for Humber's commitment towards building a stronger community that derives its strength from its inclusivity.

The Centre for Human Rights, Equity & Diversity (Centre) provides human rights and equity programs and services to the Humber Community. All Centre initiatives integrate a holistic framework that extends beyond binaries and addresses the simultaneity of the individual's identities and experiences. This intersectional and integrative approach grounded in a practice of care is woven throughout the Centre's programs and services.

Sample Feedback

The most important thing I learned is …

The many ways implicit bias impacts how we interact with people in our everyday life. Yet, we are often unaware of these biases.

How unconscious white privilege has been in all facets of my life, including the neighborhoods where I lived, the schools I went to, and the jobs I had.

I have a responsibility to take action when I am aware of a potential Human Rights or Health and Safety violation.

What will you do differently as a result of this workshop?

Consider the unconscious ways I interact with students (who I lock eyes with, who I stand in front of); revisit how I provide feedback; review how I think about my different students and which implicit biases are present in those thoughts.

Actively seek out ways to interrupt racism. Passivity is not anti-racist.

Feel more comfortable being an ally in terms of shutting down comments/actions that are Islamophobic.
